

CITY OF WAGGA EISTEDDFOD SOCIETY

Society to stage 93rd eisteddfod

THE City of Wagga Eisteddfod Society will be holding its 93rd annual event starting next week.

The bands component will begin on Thursday and primary and high school choir competitions will be staged on Friday.

Both events will be held at Joyes Hall.

Other events will be held at the Seventh Day Adventist Hall and Baptist Church Hall.

Piano Championships will be staged on Sunday, September 1, at the Conservatorium of Music, South Campus.

The adjudicator will be Robyn Reid.

The popular speech competition will be held from September 10 to 14 at St Andrews Hall, except for the school speech choirs which will be held at Joyes Hall on Tuesday, September 10.

The adjudicator will be Ishbel Beadle.

Highland dancing competitions, which are worth watching, will be staged on Sunday, September 15, at Mater Dei School.

It will start at 9.30am.

Dance will take centre stage from Friday, September 13, until September 18, for dance students.

The Debs Dance Image in Video Motion Wangaratta Ballet Scholarship will also be awarded on the night.

And Wollundry Rotary Carabost Cup is not to be missed by dancers and spectators alike.

There is excellent dancing to be seen.

Adjudicator of the big events is Rowena Garvie Sanderson.

Group weekend is a very busy time, so please come along and enjoy the talents participants have to offer.

Helpers are always needed to manage the music, dance and speech sections.

CITY OF WAGGA EISTEDDFOD SOCIETY

Moran started at eisteddfod

THE Wagga Eisteddfod has a long and proud history.

Now in its 93rd year, a host of future dramatic arts and dancers have competed on local stages long before scaling greater heights.

Among the list of stars is none other than former Yellow Wiggle, Wagga's own Sam Moran (pictured right).

As a youngster, Moran competed in dance and drama at the eisteddfod during his formative years.

Moran later became the Yellow Wiggle, replacing the Greg Page.

He now has his own television show, Play Along.

Eisteddfod Society president Di Jacobson says there have been a number of other performers who have gone onto the national and world stage, particularly in dance and ballet.
