spanline HOME ADDITIONS

Your local team at Spanline Riverina were the worthy recipients of two prestigious awards at the recent 2013 National Spanline Awards, acknowledging their hard work, expertise and high standard of service.

Competing against more than 30 other Spanline outlets, Spanline Riverina was recognised for its outstanding business premises, product display and corporate image development. Owner, Dave Barrie and Manager, Joe Mack were thrilled with the award and its acknowledgement of their commitment to the Spanline brand.

In the Design Awards section, Christine Cole, Spanline's Design Advisor was acknowledged for her excellence in design and construction, achieving 1st place in the Glass and Screened Enclosures category and 4th place in the Insulated Roofing category.

Locally run for over 17 years, the friendly team at Spanline Riverina offer first-class customer service. Home additions are made so easy with Spanline. They will arrange everything from an innovative design to complement your home and lifestyle, through to council applications and certifications.

fosters KITCHENS & JOINERY
Make it happen!

For almost 30 years, Fosters Joinery has been the quiet achiever yet trusted name in kitchens, bathrooms, and residential joinery and furniture across the Riverina.

Marking a new era for Fosters, owners David and Cathy Foster have proudly welcomed partner Craig Hiscock to the fold and this month introduce two new areas of business – Fosters Flat-pack Solutions and Fosters Outdoor Kitchens.

"We've been in this business for a long time and one thing we know for sure is that you need to keep up with customer needs," said Mr Foster.

"We know that people want a quality result on a tight budget and they want a great kitchen for outdoor entertaining. We've been providing these things for a while but we've now committed to refining and specialising in these areas".

According to Mr Hiscock, Fosters is well placed to extend its reputation to the new areas of business.

Solahart
energy free from the sun™

Homeowners looking to take advantage of generous Government incentives to produce their own solar power can now turn to Australia's leading solar water heater manufacturer, Solahart, for a range of top quality, high performance solar PV (photovoltaic) systems. Solahart is aiming to build on its position as Australia's solar energy leader.

"With power prices soaring and more and more Australians wanting to switch to sustainable energy solutions, Solahart is now offering consumers the chance to harness even more free energy from the sun and maximise their power savings knowing their solar systems are backed by the market leader," he said.

the home. The amount generated depends on the number of panels and size of the inverter and any excess is fed back into the power grid with additional electricity also able to be purchased from the grid when the sun is not shining.

Both systems attract renewable energy certificates, which mean significant cash savings on the purchase price and various State Governments offer additional incentives to make the switch.

As a rule of thumb home-owners should replace their electric water heater first (with a solar water heater) because they account for around 25% of a household's energy use. It's one of the most significant steps you can take to becoming more energy efficient.
