EYE ON THE STOCK: Martin Maas, in his office updating stock records where you will usually find him if he is not wandering around checking on supplies.

From farming to farm supplies

Martin Maas is the co director most associated with the rural supply section of Goulburn Produce. He used to be the brother managing the farms but now spends six days a week in Goulburn ensuring that there is plenty of seed, fertilisers stockfeed, dog food, drench and chemicals and all those other things like wire posts, timber and gates in stock to meet the needs of customers. While he basically swapped positions with Lex, Martin still likes to keep his hand in, when it comes to farming. He spends his spare time on the family properties and on another he runs for a Sydney based computer programmer. Martin is quick to point out that Goulburn Produce started out as a rural produce supplier and has expanded from there into hardware, building supplies and the extensive Mitre 10 product range. "You really need to come in and see for yourself to appreciate the wide range of stock we carry," Martin said. "We offer products, services and lines you will not see in many other similar businesses."
