Media Release: Federal Budget

The recent federal budget has come and gone again for 2013. This year is different, for both the Government and Opposition; it is a campaign budget for the next federal election. The government's commitment to border protection, Gonski, NDIS, its darling war on climate change and the carbon tax have now made the promised budget surplus into a monumental deficit of $16Bn.

When it comes to the Oppositions response, Tom Sebo has put it well with the following words:¹

The Centrepiece was scrapping the Carbon Tax, in favour of a direct action (using taxpayers money to help polluters reduce emissions), and using the ACCC to ensure energy companies pass on the savings.

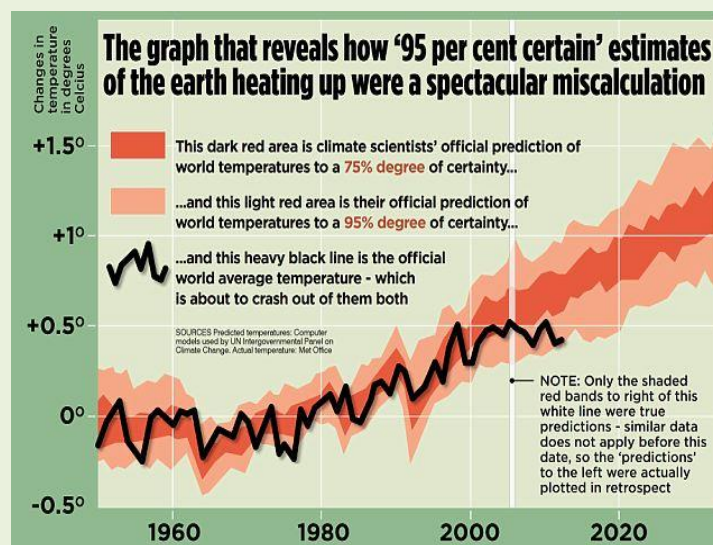

And to this Tony Abbot received a standing ovation at the end of the budget reply, a resounding endorsement to spend $3.2Bn of our money on emissions reduction. Neither Tony Abbot nor Julia Gillard will admit that this whole CO₂ global warming climate change thing is a scam designed to transfer wealth. One has to go to the antipodes of the earth to learn what our climate change commission will not tell you:

The Great Green Con no. 1: The hard proof that finally shows global warming forecasts that are costing you billions were WRONG all along.²

Rising CO₂ levels are not causing world mean global temperature to rise.

If the party that leads the next federal government is to have a budget surplus and have Gonski, NDIS and NBN it will have to remove the white elephant brought in by Julia Gillard, Climate Change and Emissions Reduction. It all has to go. It has to undo all the infrastructure and the indoctrination brought to us by the Climate Change Commission.

Tony Abbot may well have done his training as a Jesuit Priest, but if he does not get rid of Climate Change completely he is still a servant of the Green Religion of the Environment.
