Qbn pride on the line

Robbie Coleman

CATAPULTED straight into round two after a not-so-well-earned rest last weekend, the Queanbeyan Whites will kick off their 2013 campaign this Saturday.

The Whites will get the ball rolling against Easts at Griffith and I can't help but look forward to what lies ahead.

I was involved in some pretty exciting times with Queanbeyan last year including an after-the-siren victory against Gungahlin in the semi-finals.

No question that it was disappointing to then bow out one game short as we did against Wests in the preliminary-final, especially with a shot at arch-rivals Tuggeranong in the grand final on the line.

But with a majority of last year's squad still intact, there's no reason the boys can't have another good crack at the title in 2013.

And with a bit more experience blended through the mix, everyone at the club knows this could be our year.

The last time I was involved in the Whites pre-season campaign was back in 2010. At that stage I was still pretty raw and happy to be playing with the older guys like Dan Penca, Anthony Hegarty and Matty Hirst.

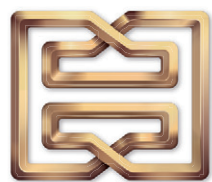

They, like the rest of the boys representing 2620, were very proud of the club and it gave me a clear indication of what was expected of me as a proud Queanbeyan-local.

I'm not sure how many games I'll play for the Whites this year but I'll be back in action whenever the chance presents itself.

In recent years especially, there have been plenty of big names go on from their days with the Whites to bigger and better things.

In our current Brumbies squad guys like Tevita Kuridrani, Leon Power and Nic White are very proud of their connection to the Whites and we're all looking forward to getting back to Campese Oval at some stage this year.

Robbie Coleman plays fullback for the ACT Brumbies and is a Queanbeyan Whites junior.
