Fresh flavours

Lidra and Mertian Bushati are bringing the flavours of Turkey to Queanbeyan.

TURQUOISE Turkish Restaurant on Monaro St prides itself on being Queanbeyan's only dedicated Turkish restaurant, and owners Meritan and Lidra Bushati take their food seriously.

"My wife and I are trying to bring a different approach to food in the Queanbeyan area," Mr Bushati said.

"It's quite a big responsibility to represent such a big and diverse cuisine."

The restaurant showcases some of Turkey's signature flavours, incorporating fresh bread and dips, pides, skewers and kebabs and a range of grilled vegetables, tasty zucchini balls and Turkish salads and rice.

"We try and showcase the skewers, the dips, the Turkish salads, and the different, unique herbs and spices of Turkish cuisine," Mr Bushati said.

"Turkish cuisine is a very whole cuisine. As a country, Turkey's empire use to spread into all parts of the world, and its cuisine has taken a herb or spice from across the world and brought it back to Istanbul. That's why Turkish food is so rich and flavoursome.

"And Turkish food is mainly grilled, so it's very healthy as well. It's not greasy and there's no MSG or anything like that," he said.

Turquoise Turkish Restaurant also offers a range of banquets, providing a tasty snapshot of the whole menu, and perfect for Christmas parties, work functions or any special occasion.

Find them at 72 Monaro St, Queanbeyan.
