

Growing Old Gracefully

1943303

It's the 'almost summer' sale!

JAYCO Canberra Dealership continues to offer more layouts than their caravan competitors and leads the industry in excellence.

Their warranty is Australia's most respected and offers Jayco owners peace of mind. The Lustris brothers Roy, Frank and John purchased Jayco Canberra Dealership back in 2007.

They started at Uriarra Road Queanbeyan, but soon realised that the industry was growing so fast they needed a bigger site, and in 2011 moved to 92 Yass Rd, Queanbeyan.

The new location has easy parking, a great accessories shop and full caravan servicing from insurance work to fridges, electric brakes or wheel bearings.

The Lustris brothers say customers can look forward to their next caravan or RV purchase knowing they and their team will offer family friendly service, commitment to quality and value for money.

■ Come on in to Jayco at 92 Yass Road, Queanbeyan and take advantage of the 'almost summer' sale, from September 12-22.

Clear vision

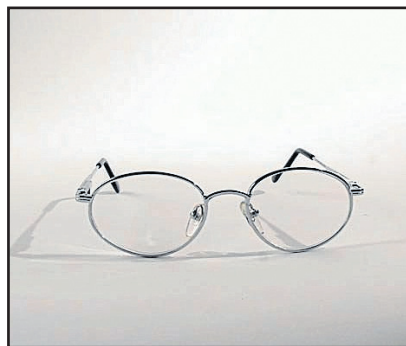

OUR eyes change rapidly as we age, and it becomes more difficult to judge distances, cope with glare and adjust to sudden changes in light. This can affect your ability to see the edges of steps and stairs.

Bifocal, trifocal or multifocal glasses increase the chances of falling, as the changes in the lens can make it difficult to judge distances and see objects on the ground.

Other eye conditions, such as macular degeneration, glaucoma, cataracts, and diabetic retinopathy, impair vision. They may require you to learn new skills to move around safely.

Have your eyes checked by an optometrist or ophthalmologist at least every two years, and by your doctor in the years between.

Consider having a separate pair of glasses for walking outdoors.

Give your eyes time to adjust to sudden changes in light, and ensure that you have good lighting at home and on stairs.

If you get new glasses or any treatment for your eyes, be especially careful. You will need to allow your eyesight time to adjust.
