

Bowning Public gets active

Bowning Primary school is delivering an exciting sporting program to promote healthy lifestyles, participation and teamwork for which they are a state winner.

The program is the Active After-school Communities program which Bowning Public is running after-school two afternoons a week.

Program leaders trained by the Australian Sports Commission are providing the after-hours fun. The activities are designed to be non-competitive and fun while promoting skill development and fitness and have been popular with children of all ages.

In future terms the school is looking to broaden the range of activities provided to include anything from dance classes to rugby-league clinics. The aim of the program is to increase community participation in recreational activities. With almost all of the 45 students enrolled at Bowning Public School taking part it is obvious that the program is a big hit with the Bowning community.

Another great thing about the program is that it is free of charge to the Bowning School students as it is supervised by the principal and fully funded by the Australian Government Sports Commission. The school is very pleased to have been successful in their application to be part of the program to enable them to help increase the children's fitness and to provide after-school activities within the village.

Furthermore, there is some money left for the purchase of equipment for the school so everybody in the school community benefits.

A commitment to excellence

Rye Park Public School is a small school 40 minutes from Yass. It boasts small class sizes, strong community involvement and a supportive environment for students to learn and prosper. Rye Park School prides itself on preparing students for their future by teaching leadership skills and developing self-confidence. Students are able to make decisions and learn to take on roles and responsibilities within the school through the Student Parliament.

The 'Positive Behaviour for Success' program is in place at our school, with our core values of respect, responsibility and safety which coincides with our positive self-esteem program teaching other values like diligence, forgiveness and trustworthiness.

Rye Park School has a strong Junior Red Cross program, linking our school with the Rye Park and Boorowa Red Cross group. Students in years three to six learn guitar and perform at a range of events in the Rye Park community throughout the year.

Students are confident public speakers, participating in Apex and Rostrum competitions in Yass and Boorowa. For the last two years, we have participated in the Lions Club writing competition resulting in one of our students winning the competition and another two receiving third prize and an encouragement award. We have a strong sporting culture, with students reaching Regional level in cross country and athletics, and State level in swimming.

Rye Park School has a commitment to excellence in education.

A Proud Heritage ... Shaping the Future

Respect and responsibility

• While they are small in number, the students at Dalton Public School are definitely one big happy family. Photo: Supplied.

We have been educating students and families for generations and the wider community feels a strong sense of ownership with our great school.

Focusing on skills for our students' futures, we have interconnected classroom technology allowing for both whole class and individual learning. With this we develop skills in word processing, data management, internet use and digital photography.

Our individual reading and mathematics programs have resulted in above state average gains in National testing. We have a successful peer tutoring program in literacy boosting achievement for the younger students and developing self-esteem and confidence of our senior students.

We have highly engaging tennis and dance programs taught by professionals and all students are involved in our music program.

Our sporting facilities are first class including a multi-purpose all weather court and fantastic bushland area adjacent to the main playground.

We host a School as a Community Centre Playgroup

each Wednesday so our younger children can become familiar with the school environment and students.

We have strong parental involvement with our parents engaged in providing extra activities outside the classroom through sewing, art and sport.

We have a safe, secure and happy learning environment.
