Save time with new LPG quick-fill system

ALONG with the Annual Heating Expo and the unveiling of the new heating showroom at Barbeques Galore, this Saturday, April 20 will also see the official opening of the new gas fill station at the store.

Using this state-of-the-art gas-filling technology, a standard 9kg gas bottle can be filled in just 30 seconds instead of the usual six to seven minutes.

Barbeques Galore company licensee Gary Gurtner is excited about bringing this brand-new equipment to Wagga in conjunction with Origin Energy.

"To my knowledge this $100,000 LPG quick-fill system is the only one outside Sydney or Melbourne," Gary said.

"Barbeques Galore Wagga is also the first in the chain of 100 Barbeques Galore stores to implement this system which has revolutionised the LPG gas industry."

"The difference is that the gas is pumped in rather than the cylinder being filled the traditional way using atmospheric pressure – this avoids bleed-off so you don't get that horrific smell."

"You know what you're getting to the gram too, as the gas is weighed into the cylinder using electronic scales."

"It's been a six-year plan from concept to fruition."

"I first saw the LPG quick-fill system in Melbourne and thought 'That's the way to go,'" Gary explained.

From regular 9kg gas bottles to gas patio heaters, 45kg bottled gas to forklifts, the new gas-filling technology will be suitable for a broad range of requirements.

For Barbeques Galore Wagga, safety with the new gas-filling equipment is paramount, which is why a dedicated licensed gas filler will be rostered on at the store at all times.

As a special offer to celebrate the official opening of the new LPG quick-fill system, Barbeques Galore are offering a flat $20 for 9kg cylinders all day Saturday, April 20 and Sunday, April 21.
