

ESSENTIALLY You

This feature showcases information for YOU personally, from DIY to Financial Counselling to Active Volunteering...

LEAH Bailey recently started with the Rural Financial Counselling Service NSW northern region to provide a free service to eligible farm families in the North West.

Based in Moree, Leah has seven years' experience in the financial services industry, including areas within the banking and finance sector. She also has a financial planning background.

The Rural Financial Counselling Service assists primary producers, fishers and small rural businesses that may be experiencing financial hardship or wish to plan for the future. Leah lives locally and understands local issues.

In her new role she will help eligible clients assess and prepare reports on their financial position, cash flow and viability circumstances.

She can help identify issues, complete action plans and plan options to achieve realistic outcomes. This free service also connects clients to information about government and industry assistance, including the latest information about the Australian Government's Farm Finance Package.

Rural financial counsellors provide referrals to professional networks, so you can make an informed decision about your financial future.

The Rural Financial Counselling Service NSW northern region is administered from its head office in Casino and has 12 outreach offices across north-eastern NSW. There is a service near you.

To find out more about how this free service can help you, call Leah Bailey on 6752 3561 or send an email to: leah.bailey@rfgcsw-northernregion.org

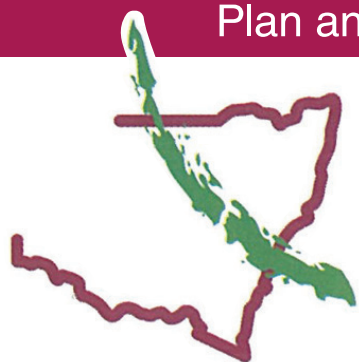

Her office is located at Wesley Court, 23 Frome St, Moree.

This is a FREE service for eligible farmers.

HELPING HAND: Leah Bailey recently joined Rural Financial Counselling's Moree branch.
